

I need to say that replacing stations like KLOVE {a translator station} is one of the worst moves the FCC can make. No matter what city I travel to I look for the Frequency of the local broadcast.

Most of the stations that the FCC licenses these days carry trash not fit to listen to. People swear and nothing is done but maybe a small fine. I for one am sick of it. Now a station comes along with family values and you want to curb thier broadcast, I for one will send a letter to Dennis Hastert asking for him to look into this.

Small kids in our community listen to this station and have a chance for a life free of gangs and drugs. Do you want your kids hearing the anti police rap or something with morals. You need to ask yourself "How will this ruling effect my family?" I urge to to not curb thier broadcast. If you travel you know how nice it is to hear the same friendly voice on the radio in a diffrent city.
